> SUPERINTENDENT OF THE NAVAL OBSERVATORY .-It has not yet been decided what officer will be detailed to fill the office of superintendent of the naval observatory, made vacant by the death of Rear Admiral John Rodgers. Heretofore it has been customary to detail an officer of the line to fill that office, but there is a probability that the selection will now be made from the corps of professors of mathematics. In case the se-lection is made from the line officers, it is likely that Admiral Wyman, who was recently detached from command of the North Atlantic station, will be chosen, although a strong effort is being made in behalf of Commander Sampson, who is now in charge of the observatory.

There is but little doubt that the Court in Gen were a unit from the first; but there are grounds for believing that there was some difference of opinion in the consultation room last Saturday; that one of the judges took the ground that there was an error committed in admitting Mrs. Dunmire's testimony, and another at first agreed with Mr. Reed as to the question of jurisdiction. It is stated, however, that the judge who made the objection as to Mrs. Dunmire's evidence finally gave in, and subsequently the other united with the majority; but it is not unlikely that the latter may give his views when the opinion of the court is an GUITEAU THINKS THE LAW IS ON HIS SIDE.

Special Dispatch to THE EVENING STAR. CUMBERLAND, MD., May 15 -A dispatch has just been received from New York telling of the safe arrival last night of Frank Brady, one of the witnesses from Pompey Smash in the Morey letter affair, whom Davenport interviewed, and has induced to testify against certain democratic politiclans in this city. Brady is said to be the man who clans in this city. Brady is said to be the man who went before W. M. Price and offered to swear to an affidavit that he was Robert Lindsey. The next day Brady backed out and refused to swear before a magistrate, when James O'Brien, of Washington, D.C., was induced to swear to a similar affidavit, which was forwarded to Barnum the day before election. Davenport has obtained from W. H. Barnum the original affidavit of the fictitious Robert Lindsey, in the handwriting of Price; also, Price's receipts for money received from Barnum, and other original papers, which, along with Brady's statements in New York, will soon afford a chapter of interesting reading, and fully explain the whole Lindsey iniquity.

DEATH OF MRS. CORKHILL.—Mrs. Helen B. Corkhill, wife of District Attorney Corkhill, died at 11 o'clock last night, at Willard's hotel. Mrs. Corkhill was taken quite ill last November, her sickness at that time, it was thought, having been aggravated by the close and foul air of the Criminal Court room, where she was a visitor two days during the progress of the Guiteau trial. She had recently so far recovered as to go about in her carriage. On Wednesday last, she drove to her residence at Mount Pleasant, and on her return suffered a relapse, her disease assuming the form of acute gastritis, which culminated fatally last night. Her children and a number of intimate friends were present when death occurred. Mrs. Corkhill was a daughter of Mrs. Blake, who after-Corkhill was a daughter of Mrs. Blake, who afterwards married Gen. Hiram Walbridge, from whom she inherited the Walbridge estate, near Mount Pleasant. Her death will be sincerely mourned by a large circle of friends. BLOCK ISLAND, R. I.

OC'AN VIEW HOTEL,
THE FAVORITE OCEAN RESORT FOR WASHINGTON PEOPLE.

The medical profession pronounce this the most healthy resort on the Atlantic coast. It is 15 miles at sea; pure ocean breezes; always cool; beautiful scenery; surf and still water bathing; delightful walks and drives; magnificent bass, sea trout, sword, cod and blue fishing. No malaria, hay fever, asthma, dyspepsia, or summer diseases, &c., on this 'Se. girt isle.'

The Ocean View is on a high bluff, overlooking the ocean, and accommodates 500 guests; broad piazzas extend nearly one quarter of a mile in length; splendid music; elegant ball and theatrical room; hot and cold sea baths in hotel; has more permanent families than any hotel on the Atlantic coast; electric bells, gas, &c., in every room; submarine cable to mainland. Two smaller houses—Pequot and Hotel Manisses—under same management. Send for Illustrated Handbook.

Some claim that the judges were a unit from the first; but there are grounds give his views when the opinion of the court is an nounced. The Chief Justice this morning alludng to the statement that there was a divided court said: "I put 260 pounds on that."

A petition is being circulated in Boston and vicinity asking the President to pardon Guiteau.

THE EIGHT-HOUR LAW.—Mr. Richard Emmons, of East Washington, who represents the employes of the Washington navy yard, and a committee from Philadelphia, who represent all the other navy yards in the effort to accure their rights under the "eight-hour" law, called on Attorney General Brewster (to whom the President referred the matter for a decision as to the validity of the law) to learn what action he has taken in the matter. The Attorney General informed them that he had sent his opinion to the President, and declined to make known its purport. There is a great deal of interest felt by the workingmen as to how the Attorney General construes the law, as the President told the "eight-hour" committee that he would be governed by that officer's opinion of the law.

It greatly shocked all who knew her when it was known yesterday that the death of District Attorney Corkhill's wife was hourly expected. Sho was apparently convalescent after her long illness until the middle of last week. On Tuesday sho rode out to her residence at Mt. Pieasant. Her relapse was not considered serious until Friday, and few of her acquaintances outside Willard's hotel knew of it. She was married to Col. Corkhill six years ago this spring. She leaves two little girls, the children of her former husband, Mr. Phillips, and a son by her first marriage.
